
Welcome Day for Postdocs: A Look Back at an Inspiring Event

20 February, 2025

On 19 February 2025, the Welcome Day for postdoctoral researchers at Charles University took place at the Hybernská Campus. Organised by the Postdoctoral Platform, the event attracted both newcomers and experienced postdocs, offering them a unique opportunity to learn more about career development opportunities, university support services, and to meet their new colleagues.

Participants explored open science, support for ERC grant applicants, and learned more about international collaboration and opportunities within the 4EU+ Alliance. The event also featured a presentation on training and mentoring programmes for early-career researchers at Charles University, aimed at supporting their professional growth.

The event concluded with informal networking, allowing participants to exchange experiences and establish new contacts.

We sincerely thank everyone who attended the Welcome Day. A special thanks goes to all the presenters!

We look forward to the next Welcome Day, which will take place in autumn 2025, and we wish all postdoctoral researchers much success.
