Germany - The Still “Civilian” Power and its Troubles
When: Wednesday, March 27, 12:30 to 14:00
Where: The Faculty of Social Sciences (FSV UK) at Jinonice, room 2080

Hanns W. Maull is a renowned expert on German foreign policy and international relations, who established the concept of Germany as a civilian power. He is currently a Senior Distinguished Fellow at the German Institute for International and Security Affairs (SWP) in Berlin, where he has run a major project on the transformation of the world order with a related book publication (available in the FSV Jinonice library).

Professor Maull is also Senior Policy Fellow for China's Global Role, Mercator Institute for China Studies (MERICS), Berlin and Adjunct Professor of International Relations, Johns Hopkins University SAIS Europe, Bologna. He held the Chair for Foreign Policy and International Relations at the University of Trier in Germany until 2013.

The lecture is a public introductory event related to the seminar Professor Maull gives at the FSV UK this semester (several more students can still sign for the seminar until March 25th). The seminar is a joint initiative of the Institute of International Studies of the Faculty and of the Friedrich Ebert Foundation, Prague Office.
